FARMERS' MARKETS IN AND AROUND STOCKTON

Stockton is located in the middle of the abundance of California's Central Valley.

To celebrate the agricultural richness of the region, the Stockton area offers numerous farmers' markets that bring the farm to your table as soon as the produce is picked. Even better, many farmers' markets are open year-round so that locals and visitors can get fresh food any time

One of the oldest farmers' markets in the state, the Downtown Stockton Asian Farmers' Market is held every Saturday throughout the year. In addition to fresh fruits and vegetables, the market also offers Asian produce, products, fish and sweets. The amazing assortment of items landed the Downtown Stockton Asian Farmers' Market on Saveur magazine's Top 100 in 2007.

Head to downtown Stockton on Fridays, May through October, it's one of the largest and most popular of its kind. Expect seasonal produce from San Joaquin Valley farms at great prices. In addition to fresh fruits and vegetables, there are vendors selling fresh-cut flowers, baked goods and other artisanal products. And don't forget to grab a bite at one of the many food trucks, which are always a hit during the spring and summer months.
